WOMAN CATCHES ROBBER, YANKS HIM OUT OF TAXI

Mrs. Marianne Kobermann Follows Armed Man From Store After Holdup and Seizes Him.

84 HE HAD TAKEN FOUND IN POCKET

Cashier at Hotel Says She Felt Sorry for Prisoner When He Was Being Held for Police.

Mrs. Marianne Kobermann, 26-year-old widow, captured an armed robber at Grand Boulevard and Aragon street last night, dragging him from a taxi cab and holding on until help arrived.

"I just couldn't stand still and let him get away with it," she told the man who disarmed her prisoner, Jack Dowdy, 24, and held him until police arrived.

Mrs. Kobermann, a cashier at Hotel Chase, left her home at 2314 Utah street, to buy a pair of hose walking to Ida Wetzel's apparel shop at 3109 South Grand.

"I had been looking at stockings about 10 minutes when this fellow walked in," she related. "He had a pistol in his hand and he said, 'This is a stick-up.' Get back there."

Threw Money on Floor.

He went to the back of the store and threw my money, six dollars bills on the floor. He made the proprietor tell him where her cash was under the counter. He put the money in his pocket and started toward the door.

"I didn't have any time then of going to stop him. He was going out and I shouted, 'You'll be sorry for this!'. Then I decided suddenly that he shouldn't be permitted to walk away with a poor woman's money."

The robber ran about 20 feet, clambered into a taxicab, fired his pistol at the driver and demanded the door. The machine started, moving slowly north in traffic and Mrs. Kobermann, close to the robber's heels, sprang to the running board.

She snatched open the door, reached in and seized Dowdy out as the robber applied the brakes.

"Leave me alone," Dowdy snarled as he squirmed free. "I don't do anything to you." Mrs. Kobermann's cry for help brought Dr. George W. Becker, Chief Police Surgeon, running to his automobile. Dr. Becker raced a firm hand on Dowdy's collar and marched him into a police station.

Dowdy's pistol, a 25-caliber automatic with six cartridges was taken from him, with $3,43 in cash said to be the full amount taken from the money box.

At Magnolia Avenue Police Station, Dowdy related that the holdup was his second crime, confessing that he held up the Union Electric Light & Power Co. branch at 19 Lemay Ferry road last Monday, taking $40 from the woman cashier.

Felt Sorry for Prisoner.

Living at the Claridge Hotel as a transient, Dowdy hired a cab late last night and instructed his driver, Harry Vorholt, to drive to Grand and Arsenal. Vorholt protested against parking in a safety zone, but on Dowdy's assurance that he would be back in a minute, he took a chance and waited outside the Wetzel store with his machine gunning.

Mrs. Kobermann said today she sent her prisoner after she saw him leave. He stood in a moderate standing in the drug store, that I got the silly notion he was some poor fellow with a hungry family who did it because he was desperate," she related. "I didn't think like that." Mrs. Kobermann supports a 7-month-old son.

May 17, GETS 10 YEARS FOR 70-CENT HOLDUP

South Convicted Under Henry Law Hobbed Washington University Student.

Bernard Hughes, 17 years old, was found guilty of a 70-cent holdup in a drug store in Circuit Judge George C. Cole's court yesterday. Sentenced 10 years in prison, the thin young man under the Henry law which provides heavy penalties for robbery with a deadly weapon.

Hughes, who lives at 4222 Lee Avenue, offered an alibi and did not take the stand. He was accused of holding up Bert Dreyer, a Washington University student, in front of 5675 Cabanne Avenue, March 2.

Klein Kostedt, 16, of 5222 North Grand street, jointly accused with Hughes, pleaded guilty previously and was sentenced to 10 years in reformatory at Booneville.

HEAT WAVE IN CALIFORNIA: FIRES AND WATER SHORTAGE

State Traffic Patrolmen, Federal and Other Agencies Co-operate in Fighting Blazes.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Most of California is perspiring in a heat wave that has brought numerous fires to country and city. Atmospheric conditions that frost the highlands, leaving 14 inches of snow on Pike's Peak in Colorado, are said to be weather bureau officials here to be partly responsible for the scorching winds that have poured into California over the Siskiyous and the Sierras.

Many fires in timber, brush and sage have broken out. Dowd has been caused by fires in San Francisco and nearby cities estimated to total $500,000. Temperature Tuesday in normally cool San Francisco was 90. This has moderated several degrees since.

Gov. James Ralph Jr. has appointed a committee to devise ways of meeting the emergency, which includes a serious water shortage.

State highway and traffic patrolmen are co-operating with federal and local agencies fighting fire.

Southern California appears to have escaped the unusual heat.

The entire procession passed in a fleeting 15 minutes.

Once past the downtown area, the bulk of the armament turned to its concentration points at Bayview, and Cleveland without pausing.

Three squadrons, however, dropped off line and returned to the scene of maneuvers over the navy pier. These were the 11th bombardment squadron, nine planes from Rockwell Field, San Diego, under command of Lt. Col. C. Eugene Stephens, Carter objected to the 95th pursuit squadron, based at Rockwell Field, 18 ships under Capt. F. O. D. Hunter; and the 12th attack squadron from Fort Crockett, commanded by Lt. Ralph Steary. The bombers carried four men each and 2000 pounds of explosives; the pursuit planes were one-seaters with twin machine guns, manned by two pilots. The 12 attack planes carried two men each, pilot and machine gunner.

Exciting Mimic Fight.

Over the pier the pursuers wheeled and danced about the ponderous bombing squadron, splitting mimic death while the bombers sailed serenely on. In groups of three, red, green and violet, planes darted and swooped, planes darted again and again, climbing high above and then plunging in power dives at their prey.

Stirring Action Involved.

On restricted examination by Carter, Mulligan testified that there was a record in the bank showing that Stephens received all of the withheld interest money, as it is charged in the articles of impeachment Brunk received. It was shown that at one time Stephens owed the Bank of Aurora $2600, but Mulligan said he had no knowledge of how the loan was paid off.

From the standpoint of the defense, the evidence of the irregularities in the Stephens administration is considered of much importance, particularly in view of the House charge that Brunk entered into a conspiracy with the officers of the bank to permit the withholding of interest due the State.

It is the defense contention that the evidence shows that a custom which had prevailed during the entire Stephens administration merely continued later without discovery by Brunk.

The contention of the prosecution, however, is that it has no important bearing on the case, and that it goes to show that the officers of the bank, who might fear discovery under a successor to Stevens, arranged to carry on the customs.

EFFORT TO SHOW BRUNK USED PLAN OF PREDECESSOR

Witness Testifies Aurora Bank Was $21,000 Short in Interest Payments in Stephens' Term.

DEFENSE EXPECTED TO PLEAD CUSTOM

Examiner Says Treasurer Refused to Tell Him Source of $10,000 Loan From Chicago Broker.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 21.—The endeavor of the House managers to complete the chain of circumstantial evidence which they expect will convince the Senate of State Treasurer Brunk's knowledge of the irregularities in the Bank of Aurora, by which the State of Missouri was defrauded approximately $5000, was resumed in the Brunk impeachment trial today.

L. J. Mulligan, a San Jose bank examiner, was used as a witness to identify many exhibits, including correspondence between Brunk and the office representative of the bank, and bank records.

Shoagage in Stephens' Term.

The defense finally gained a point on the cross examination of Mulligan by John G. Madden, Brunk's attorney, who, over the objection of Representative Carter of the House managers, was permitted to go into the question of discrepancies in interest payments prior to the Brunk administration of the Treasurer's office.

Mulligan first testified that an account of the Stephens administration showed that about two-thirds of the State depositories did not make correct interest returns to Brunk, some of them making overpayments and some underpayments. When he started to go into the record of Brunk's predecessor, C. Eugene Stephens, Carter objected and was sustained by the Senate, which immediately afterward reversed its ruling with the amendment that the investigation should extend only to interest payments prior to Stephens' term.

The army had undertaken to demonstrate the speed with which its planes could fly in its effort to defend an inland center of population. Its entire strength had been concentrated at Dayton, Ohio, focused here in a single day and sent into the air to parade its power before an imagined challenger.

BARTON SHOT SELF FOR LOSING WIFE, HIS 'OBIT' SAYS

Artist Wrote of Remorse at Failure to Appreciate 'Beautiful Lost Angel,' Carlotta Monterey.

SHE'S NOW MARRIED TO EUGENE O'NEILL

Third Spouse of Caricaturist 'Only Woman He Ever Loved' — 'She Did Her Best.'

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Ralph Barton's remorse over failure to appreciate "a beautiful lost angel" was disclosed in a note written before he took his life yesterday in his penthouse apartment. The note identified the "angel" as "Carlotta," referring to the caricaturist's third wife, now married to Eugene O'Neill, playwright. Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill recently arrived in New York from France.

Headed "Obit," the note said in part:

"I have had few real difficulties. I have had, on the contrary, an exceptionally glamorous life, as life goes, and I have had more than my share of affection and appreciation.

"I have always had excellent health, but since my early childhood I have suffered from a melancholia, which in the last five years has begun to show definite symptoms of manic-depressive insanity.

NORTH AMERICAN OWNS 35 PCT. OF CITY UTILITIES CO.

Latter Is Holding Company Which Controls St. Louis Public Service Co.—Evidence at Hearing.

$4,476,222 LOSS ON U. R. TRANSACTION

Parent Firm Made Average Profit of 15 Pct., 1925-1929, on Investment in County Gas Co.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The North American Co., the gigantic utility system which controls the Union Electric Light and Power Co., has lost $4,476,222 or 35 per cent of the City Utilities Co., the holding company controlling the St. Louis Public Service Co. and owning the People's Motorbus Co.

This information has been given to the Federal Trade Commission by E. A. Lundvall, commission economist, who related how the North American had joined with the Newman-Saunders Co. in 1924 to reorganize the old United Railways.

Despite the arrangement with Newman and Saunders, the North American, which had $8,72,877 worth of the old United securities, took a net loss of $4,476,222 at the reorganization of the street car companies. The principal losses were on 18,000 shares of United Railways, accompanied with a par value of $4,992,752, which were acquired in 1905. The old common stock was wiped out by the reorganization.

Had 63,232 Shares.

The holdings of the North American in City Utilities on Dec. 31, 1929, Lundvall testified, amounted to 63,232 shares of common stock, of which 37,500 shares were bought in September 1929 at $20 a share and 25,732 shares bought in 1924 at $17.85 a share. Lundvall said that the books of City Utilities were not available to him when he made the investigation, but he declared without explanation that the North American now holds 25 per cent of the common stock. No dividends have been declared by the company, he said.

The only direct interest the North American had in the St. Louis Public Service Co., on Dec. 21, 1929, Lundvall testified, were 100 shares of common stock, 55 shares of preferred and $35,612 worth of the company's five-year 8 per cent notes, costing $32,839.

Lundvall also testified that the North American Co., during the years 1925 to 1929, inclusive, had made an average profit of 15 per cent on its holdings in the St. Louis County Gas Co., which supplies 36,977 consumers in the county. The North American bought the County Gas Co. from the Laclede Gas Co. 22 years ago when legal restrictions prevented the Laclede from operating in the county.

A profit of $119,000.

The Laclede company organized the county company in 1902 with a capital stock of $10,000. The North American bought control of the county company in 1905-1906 for $300,000 and reorganized it in 1912. At that time it issued to itself 100,000 shares of common stock and retained $700,000 worth of bonds valued at $80. In April, 1927, it sold the bonds at 97, making a profit of $119,000. The North American plowed back much of the earnings of the county company, and by additional investments in the capital stock of the company, it increased its interest of its holdings to $3,240,578 in 1929. Dividends paid to the North American were 8 per cent in 1920, 10 per cent in 1921 and 1922 and 12 per cent thereafter.

The earnings on investments in capital stock and reinvested surplus for five years were as follows: 1925, 10 per cent; 1926, 16.4 per cent; 1927, 15.5 per cent; 1928, 12.2 per cent; 1929, 13.8 per cent. The reinvested surplus, or earnings plowed back into the company, increased from $461,493 in 1920 to $90,578 in 1929.

The North American's investment in capital stock increased from $700,000 in 1920 to $2,250,000 in 1929. Lundvall testified that this increase had resulted from advances to the county company by the holding company.

CRITICISES HURLEY AS HEAD OF BOARD TO PROMOTE PEACE

IN AUTO CRASH REVERSED
Question of Liability of Doctors With Whom Claimant Was Riding at Issue.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Secretary of War Hurley rebuked a witness before the Senate Committee today for claiming he had ignored the peaceful purposes of the commission. Mercer Johnston, director of the People's Legislative Service, said Hurley, chairman of the commission, had apparently considered the words "to promote peace" in the resolution creating the body as "pure buncome."

Hurley replied that Johnston's statement was "absolutely and unequivocally untrue" and that he had no warrantee, and would not have been made except for the purpose of arousing personal resentment.

"I am a seeker of peace and decline to have you distort my character in this record," Hurley said.

Johnston said he had not called Hurley a liar and contended the Secretary's reply did not fit his language.

Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., advocated taxation as the most practical way to take excessive profits out of war. Gifford opposed the Baruch plan for freezing prices at the outbreak of a war, contending it would neither equalize the burdens nor take the profits out of a conflict.

"BIG BILL" EDWARDS FILES CROSS-BILL TO WIFE'S SUIT

Former Princeton All-American Player Charged With Mental Cruelty, Alleges Misconduct.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 21.—Mrs. Norma Jones Edwards has started suit for separation from William Edwards, former Princeton All-American football player, and he has instituted counter-suit for divorce. Information regarding the suit was withheld until Mrs. Edwards' application for $1000 a month temporary alimony and $10,000 counsel fees was called for hearing. At the request of counsel for Mrs. Edwards, the hearing was held behind closed doors.

Mrs. Edwards charges mental cruelty and non-support. Edwards allegedly, neither worked nor contributed to the family.

The charges in the complaint which has been on file in Supreme Court for several weeks were not made public.

McNamee, 42 years old, said he had been served with the papers about the first of the month. He denied that the action was by mutual consent and said it would not be contested.

They were married 10 years ago after meeting at a concert in the Dutch Reformed Church in Bronxville, N. Y., where both were on a musical program. McNamee was a baritone singer before he became an attorney.

Disclosure of the separation suit came as a surprise to their friends among whom they were described as an ideally married couple. McNamee has often been depicted as saying his wife was his severest critic, who sat at one of their five radio receivers at home and listened to her broadcast descriptions of sporting events, political meetings and other doings.

STOCKHOLDERS IN ARENA AUTHORIZE $3,000,000 BONDS

State Securities Co. of Chicago, which handled the Pierre Chouteau bonds, and which Brunk used to buy for him, told the bank the Bank of Aurora after the bank was closed by the State Finance Commissioner.

The defense in its opening statement had contended this was a legitimate loan by Edlin to Brunk, and denied that it was given in return for official favors in connection with the sale of the bonds. Madden had told the Senate that no attempt was made to keep the loan a secret.

Mulligan testified that he sought information from Brunk as to the source of the $10,000 paid on his notes at the time he, acting for the Governor, was engaged in checking details of the Bank of Aurora transaction. He said he had been asked to tell where he obtained the money. Mulligan said Brunk told him the information would be given to the court.

Stockholders of the National Exhibition Co., owner of The Arena, 5700 Oakland avenue, authorized yesterday the issuance of $3,000,000 in 5 per cent income bonds for a remodeling of the business.

John G. Brinkman, president of the company, owns 66 per cent of the common or voting stock, but a number of the other stockholders, who got common shares as a bonus with preferred stock attended the meeting.

The new bonds will pay interest only as earnings permit and upon declaration by the directors. Brinkman said the remodeling of the building, predicted by Sen. Mayo Miller's proposal, announced last week, that the city should buy The Arena as a place to hold big events. Owners of The Arena are willing to sell. They have not set a price, but a new bond issue doubtless would be offered by the city to pay for it.

Bonds of $1,000,000.

Brinkman announced that creditors and holders of preferred stock would be asked to take $1,497,000 of the bonds in exchange for their present claims. Included would be the following: Fifteen well-known men who indorsed personal notes at six banks to raise a cash advance of $600,000 toward the remodeling of The Arena; contractors and others to whom $210,000 is owed, and holders of the $687,000 preferred stock. Brinkman is one of those who indorsed notes obligating himself for $100,000. None of the ordinary creditors was at the meeting. Brinkman said, and it has not been determined whether the proposed exchange of bonds for claims can be effected. If it is proposed to sell $1,049,000 of bonds, whenever the state of the bond market becomes more favorable, to raise cash for the race for State Treasurer. At that period Brunk was heavily indebted to the bank and his letter was in reply to one in which apparently Easley had complained of an overdraft due from Brunk. One of the principal reasons in introducing the letter was to make it appear that Adams was to be defrauded of interest on State deposits and the money used for the benefit of Brunk. Easley and Adams.

This was followed by the identification for further offering as evidence of the letter. Easley told Adams urging him to have a conference with Brunk in the hope of avoiding the necessity for making reports to Gov. Caulfield, which would have disclosed the discrepancies in the State's account with the bank.

The "Dear Magnus" letter was written Aug. 11, 1927, at a time when Brunk, because of lack of money, was threatening to withdraw from the race for State Treasurer. At that period Brunk was heavily indebted to the bank and his letter was in reply to one in which apparently Easley had complained of an overdraft due from Brunk. One of the principal reasons in introducing the letter was to make it appear that Adams was to be defrauded of interest on State deposits and the money used for the benefit of Brunk. The letter follows:

The only Tire Fact you need to know

When you read a tire advertisement that almost sweeps aside your judgment with its enthusiasm: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

When you face a sales argument that sounds good but you have no means of testing: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

When the high-pressure dealer works on you with hypnotic eye and coercive logic: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

When you are tempted to fall for bargain claims, a long trade-in, trick size comparisons, or anything else but intrinsic tire goodness: SAY TO YOURSELF

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

Then, just for variety, ask yourself "WHY?" Why is it true that

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

The answer lies in the fact that Goodyear has, year after year, given the public built-in quality and value which far out-weighs trick comparisons and clamorous claims.

Countless jackets, some as brief as brief can be, others in the conventional lengths add versatility to the mode, while the range of fabrics gives unlimited scope to each individual preference . . . as do the colors, ranging from all-white and white with colors on through fashion's color chart.

BURGLAR DRIVING RENTED CAR ROBS TWO RESIDENCES

Loot Reported to Be $200
— Agency Says Same
Man Used Machines Five Times This Week.

Two burglaries by a man who used a rented automobile to carry away the loot were reported to police yesterday. The rental agency said the same man had rented machines five times this week.

Mrs. Minnie Krabbe, 1638A South Theresa avenue, returned home and discovered the clothing value at $100 had been taken. Neighbors had taken the license number of an automobile driven by a man whom they had seen carry the clothing from the house. As Herman J. Melssner, 4174A McRee avenue, entered his home, a man ran out and jumped in an automobile. He had taken a $100 diamond pin. The license number, obtained by Melssner, corresponded with that reported by Mrs. Krabbe's neighbors.

Tracing the number to the rental agency, police were told that the machine had been turned in a few minutes before.

Negro Robbers Wound Grocer; Alleged Kidnapper Escaped.

Nathan Gladstone, grocer at 3032 Bell avenue, was robbed of $5 by two Negroes and struck on the head with a revolver when he refused to open the cash register. He suffered lacerations of the scalp.

Waiting for a street car with a friend at Broadway and Market street, Michael Bressel Jr., 8225 Pennsylvania avenue, was stabbed by the hand of a man whom he had given only 25 cents when asked for money. Bressel was taken to city hospital by his companion. His assailant escaped.

Entering his automobile in front of 3027 Morgan street, Benjamin H. Flatt, 4065 Blaine avenue, an insurance collector, was held up for $50 by two Negroes.

Another robbing $10 was taken from Mrs. Rita Casella, 4624 Delmar boulevard, by a man who accosted her in front of 702 North Taylor avenue.

Two Negroes, both former convicts, were arrested by Detectives McManus and Duggan and identified by Carl Kelly, proprietor of a barbecue stand at 3945 Easton avenue, as the men who robbed him of $100 on Tuesday night. The prisoners were arrested as they sat in an automobile at Whittier street and Cook avenue.

Fort Bellefontaine Post Office Robbed of $300 and $45 Stamps.

Ernest L. Wiemann, postmaster and grocer at Fort Bellefontaine, St. Louis County, reported he was robbed of $300 and $45 in stamps yesterday afternoon by two men who then forced him into their automobile and drove him to Alton.

A clerk and a customer were in the store when the first of the robbers entered, threatening Wiemann with a pistol and ordering him to open the safe. The second robber guarded the others while his companion marched Wiemann to the automobile. The postmaster was put out of the machine near the Alton postoffice.

Carl E. Reddick, operator of a Kirkwood-Ferguson street car, and two passengers were robbed of $52.90 last night by two Negroes who held them up at Highland Park. The robbers took $10.90 from Reddick, who resides at Florissant; $24 from Thomas Stretch, 5922 Highland avenue, and $15 from Patrick Buckley, 4026 North Grand boulevard.

PLANETARY THEORY EXPLAINED BY JEANS

British Astronomer Says That Life Is Rare in the Universe.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—Life in the universe is the exception rather than the rule, Sir James Jeans, British astronomer, told scientists at the Franklin Institute yesterday.

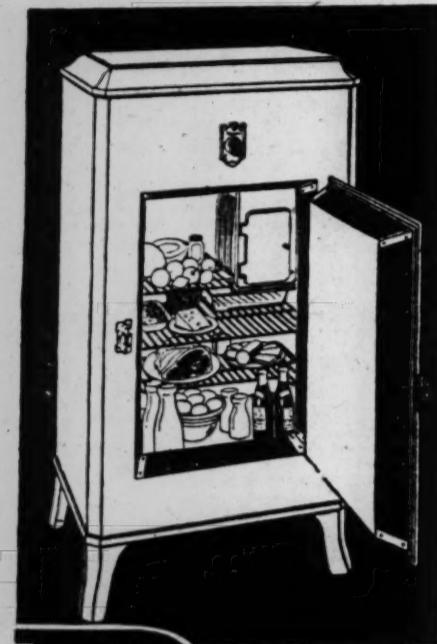

Jean and Dr. Willis R. Whitney, director of the General Electric Co.'s research laboratory, received Franklin medals considered among the highest honors confirmed in the United States for achievement in physical science.

The British astronomer and Dr. Whitney spoke after the presentation of the medals.

Jeans' theory, as given in his speech, is that the planets were formed by the passage of another star close to the sun. A tidal action occurred, according to the theory, a long filament of gas stretching out from the sun toward the other star. This filament then broke up into drops which eventually became the planets, continually revolving about the sun.

"But stars," said Sir James, "are very widely scattered through space. Three particles of dust released in this room would make this room much more crowded with dust than space is with the stars. Thus the tidal theory, in which two of these widely separated stars were held together by gravity, suggests that the birth of planets is very rare, and that life, which must have planets upon which to exist, is the exception rather than the rule."

Made in 3 sizes, with 74, 8% and 10 square feet of shelf area. All have Pyroxylin lacquer exterior finish, Porcelain-on-Steel interior, Positive Air Circulation feature and Hermetically Sealed Unit.

KEATS' immortal definition, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," might well have been written for MAJESTIC Refrigerator...

Its glistening white cabinet, gracefully formed top, beveled corners and gleaming black bakelite door edgings add miraculously to the appearance of any kitchen. When open, there is also the smooth white of the easily cleaned porcelain-on-steel food compartment and the white door concealing and protecting the ice-cube trays.

Built to the specifications of 10,000 personally interviewed women, it is, in every sense of the word, "a joy forever." One can easily sweep or mop under its broom-high legs... the mechanism is exceptionally quiet... the double-depth lower ice-cube tray quickly freezes desserts and chills entrees... the Finger-Tip Latch opens at a touch when hands are full... food may be purchased in larger quantities at substantial savings and will keep for days.

Majestic dealers will be glad to explain each of Majestic's 30 great advantages and make available a liberal purchase plan.

BROWNS DEFEAT RED SOX, 2-1; JENKINS STARS WITH BAT

Cardinals' Game Off;
Team's Failure in East
Causes Street Anxiety

By J. Roy Stockton.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

BROOKLYN, May 21.—The Cardinals' record for their first Eastern stand was fixed at four defeats and only two victories when rain caused postponement of their final game here with the Robins, scheduled for this afternoon.

The rain didn't make the day look much worse to Gabby Street's men; those recently high-flying athletes are a slump, if anyone happens to ask you. The attack, which was timely if not devastating, early in the season, has become a powder-puff affair.

The defense, which was steady and strong as a stone wall in April and early May, has become shaky and uncertain. Hitters with reputations are popping to infielders and sending harmless flies to the outer line of defense. Only the batsmen are dependable, and even that will crack under the strain soon, if the attacking forces do not lend more support.

Manager Street has benched Chick Hafey, at least against right-handers, until he repairs his timing gear. And if the old sergeant wants to do some more bunting, he can find plenty of batters hitting on one or two cylinders and with various kinds of engine and ignition trouble.

Starky Adams isn't hitting a half pint's worth. Watkiss hasn't been meeting the ball since the game in New York in which he hit two homers. Frisch continues to find it difficult to get the ball safe and bottomly, who is doing his share more regularly than any other clubber on the team, has made only three hits in the last 12 times at bat. Hafey, batting fifth, has come off 11 times without a safety and Brett, who is the team's best slugger, until Hafey came along, failed to crowd him to the bench, made only one hit but yesterday and was taken out for a pinch hitter.

Grimes was punished for a succession of arguments with Umpire Charles' Moran, who banished the pitcher from Ebbets Field after stopping the game five times to issue warnings. Grimes alternated between the bench and bullpen in annoying the arbiter.

Grimes has won five straight games for the Cardinals. In addition to being banished under next Sunday, his salary, under league rules, is cut off for the period of suspension.

Turnesa, who is pro at a Berlin club, has a flying stretch of three on the first nine, which he turned four up, and never gave Turnesa a chance.

The American made a great stand to take the tenth, eleventh and fourteenth, but he lost the twelfth and then sent his tee shot into the bunker to lose the fifteenth and leave Alliss dormie there. Turnesa did no better than a half at the sixteenth, and the match was over.

Tony Manero, Turnesa's clubmate from Elmwood, N. Y., won his second-round match from Reginald Whitecombe, 5 and 4. He will meet Alliss in the quarter-finals tomorrow.

Alliss, who is pro at a Berlin club, has a flying stretch of three on the first nine, which he turned four up, and never gave Turnesa a chance.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 21.—The Senate Committee on License and Miscellaneous today reported out with a recommendation that it pass. Representative Lager's bill cutting the fee of the Fairmount Race Track from $2500 to $1500 per day.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Not So Fromagenous.

WHEN Christopher Battalino was outpointed that imported Andre Reulis, for the featherweight fight, title, two years ago, he was decorated with the Order of the Gorgonzola. "Cheese" and raspberry trimmings were served liberally, in comments concerning his prowess.

Tomorrow night he will oppose Eddie La Barba, who has been almost everything from Olympic flyweight king to world champion in the same class, and a contender for two titles in highest classes.

La Barba has Battalino been made favorite for tomorrow's bout, but he will doubtless find that Battalino is not as fromagenous as at first supposed.

Battalino's record is speckled with decisions, but he has won since he became champion. However, he has defeated Buddy Taylor, Kid Chocolate, Bushy Graham, Lew Massey and others. That means he must have something.

The Real Champion.

OWING to the economic tricks employed by champions to get rich quick, while protecting their crowns, it is rather difficult at this time to say just who is the best man in the featherweight division.

The "dope" indicates that neither principal in tomorrow's bout deserves top honors. Eddie Shea decisively trimmed both La Barba and Battalino. But because of the trick contracts used when titleholders want the dough and not the defeat, Eddie's victories were hollow.

When Shea gets a crack at the winner of tomorrow's bout, however, he has defeated Buddy Taylor, Kid Chocolate, Bushy Graham, Lew Massey and others. That means he must have something.

Meet Mr. Bowser.

PAUL BOWSER, manager of Gus Sonnenberg, and the man who in a large measure is responsible for jazzing the wrestling game to its present historic peak, will be in St. Louis next week to advise the Americans, failed to qualify. Hunter has just landed and after a terrible $4 the first day tore up his card yesterday. Smith had 152.

MISS JACOBS AND LOTT BEATEN IN FRENCH TENNIS

By the Associated Press.

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM,
Auteuil, France, May 21.—Miss Elizabeth Ryan, the former California and Cilly Aussem, Germany's ranking woman tennis player, today advanced to the semi-finals of the women's doubles in the French hard court championships.

Their doubles partners, Mrs. Phyllis Manero and Muriel Thomas, of England, 6 and 4.

Manero lost two of the first three holes, then made a great stand to take the next six and finish the first nine four up. He lost the eighth, won the ninth with a 15 putt for a two, won the thirteenth to become dormie five and halved the last hole.

Turnesa won his first round match from A. J. Young, Essex, five and four.

Tony Manero completed his match shortly after Turnesa, polluting off W. T. Twine of Bromley, Kent, four and three.

SHIELDS DEFEATS
WRIGHT IN FIRST
DAVIS CUP MATCH

By the Associated Press.

CAROLYN GARROS STADIUM,
Paris, May 21.—Frank X. Shields, New York youngster, today defeated Dr. Jack Wright of Canada in straight sets of the first singles match of the Davis Cup series between the United States and North American zone. The scores were 8-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Wright served well but Shields won into a lead of 5-1, breaking into the third set and won it 6-2.

Shields served well in the second set and won but he then dropped five straight games to the hard-hitting American youngster. He won his service to make it 5-2, but Shields smashed through on his own serve to take the set.

Wright started out well in the third, winning his first two points to lead 2-0, but he got few points in the game after that.

The match required only 55 minutes to play.

FOUR CITIES TO SEND BOXERS TO WINTER GARDEN AMATEUR EVENTS

The signing of Ernie Evans of Milwaukee to meet Johnny Miles of St. Louis, Western A. A. U. and Mississippi Valley light heavyweight champion, one of the featured attractions on the Winter Garden A. C. card tomorrow night, brought the number of cities represented to five and completed the program. In addition to St. Louis and Milwaukee, East St. Louis, Rockford, Ill., and Chicago will have entries.

Evans has just completed a busy indoor boxing season, which brought him the Wisconsin State championship and a victory in the Milwaukee Golden Gloves tournament. Seeking laurels outside his home city, he was runner up in the Chicago Golden Gloves tournament, losing only to Jack Kranz of Chicago in the final bout of the 175-pound division.

In Miles, Evans will oppose one of the best boxers ever developed in St. Louis. In addition to winning the Western A. A. U. and Mississippi Valley titles, Ray Palmer's protege holds two decisions over Leslie Schultz of St. Louis, former National A. A. U. junior heavyweight titleholder, who will oppose Adam Smith, international champion, in another bout on the program.

Chicago K. O. Boxer on Card.

While the boxers in the heavier classification will draw the headlining positions on the card, much interest will be centered in the bantamweight contest arranged by Matchmaker Eddie Shea last night. The contest brings together Alexander of St. Louis, Don Ladd of New York, and, partly in the 115-pound class and was only prevented from annexing the Golden Gloves tournament crown in his division by illness. In Derby, he will meet a boxer capable of testing his mettle.

Dave Day, brother of Alexander, will appear in the featherweight division, the program. He is the Central A. A. U. champion and only a defeat in the final bout of the tournament in New York recently prevented him from annexing the national crown. He opposes Ray Lane of St. Louis, present Western A. A. U. and Mississippi Valley champion.

Ray Lane, Central Champion.

Eager to resume the winning streak of two years which was broken recently by his defeat in the national tournament, Joey Parks will oppose Peter Verri, Central A. A. U. lightweight titleholder and a boxer who has had more than 100 amateur battles.

Dave Crystal, East St. Louis, a former National A. A. U. junior lightweight champion, and is expected to be one of the hardest fighters ever developed in the St. Louis district, will come out of his semi-retirement to oppose Jim Fonda, Golden Gloves tournament star, in a 147-pound bout.

The seventh inter-city contest arranged by Bandy will bring together Fred Morris of St. Louis and Tommy Bertrand of East St. Louis.

The inter-city program will be supplemented by four or five novice bouts in which class Mandy has more than 30 entries.

CONCORDIA ENDS SEASON, BEATING SHURTLEFF, 12-2

Taking advantage of the weakness of the opposing hurler, Jones, and of the three Shurtleff errors, the Concordia Seminary baseball team put over two big innings to defeat the Alton nine, 12 to 2, in its closing game of the season yesterday afternoon on the Concordia diamond. The Preachers won six of seven games played, their only defeat coming at the hands of Washington University early in the year.

Concordia scored once in the opening frame, as a result of Klemp's three-bagger and an outfield fly, but Shurtleff tied the score, when Lampert crossed on a passed ball. The Alton team jumped ahead in the third, Malsen counting on a triple by Nicolet, but the Seminarians came back in their turn at bat to push across five runs.

The game was fairly even from the third to the eighth inning, with Shurtleff batting out several ineffective safeties. In Concordia's last turn at bat, however, it piled up six more scores. The bases were filled again, and two scores were counted, while the Alton team had one hit by a pitched ball. The other runs were accounted for by Hawker's error in right field, an outfield fly, and a single by Stebbins.

Lang of Concordia pitched a good game, walking but four and fanning nine batters.

Mathaiades, just after being sent in to play for Janetine in the seventh, met with an accident. His nose was broken by a thrown ball, when he was standing on the side-lines.

Mabel's Philosophy.

I NEVER quarrel with my fee. And get it while I'm able; Things aren't what they seem to be. Regardless of the label.

Out West there is a Stunkist state. That flows with milk and honey; So on her case I "concentrate." And gather beau coup money.

On simple grape-juice the returns Are copious and plenty; And can I help it if it turns To spiritus frumenti?

Going Up!
"Brownie Due to Climb in Race, Kildeer Says."

The customers thought they were past due, but maybe they are running on a new schedule.

Going Down.

If the parades don't open up pretty soon, those Cleveland Indians are going to crash through the cellar door and land on the Browns all sprawled out.

Parade in Danvers. Rabbi Isserman, Rev. Dr. John A. Lopez and Rep. Dr. Ivan Lee Holt were the guests of Branch Rickey at the Browns-Red Sox game Wednesday. They may differ on religion, but unanimously agreed that the Browns or Sox share of the world series melon this year wouldn't make a square meal for an ant.

Why seek the obvious? He's right around the corner.

Wrong number!

America will be represented in the Davis Cup matches this year by the younger "set" so to speak.

And by the same token they will be no set-up for anybody. Bill Tilden himself was young once.

The man on the sandbox says the Boston Braves' goose is honking high, thanks to that fellow Brandt, who is there like a duck.

"Phil Ball Made Special County Deputy."

Looks like first division.

This appointment carries with it the privilege of toting a gun. So if you see any Brownies taking a dive into the dugout you'll know the reason.

We are looking forward to an upward trend in Browns stock. Keep your eye on the "big shot."

Just Shoot 'Em.

WE DON'T think Phil would shoot to kill.

Or main his cellar aces, But with his gut he'll make 'em bat,

And scoot around the bases.

Although our Phil no Buffalo Bill May be upon the ball field, If he should shoot a raw recruit He'd be passed by Caulfield.

Safety First.

Until we find out just how this thing is going to work it might be just as well not to ask Phil what's the matter with the Browns?

JEFFERSON CITY, May 21.—Exceptions filed by Mrs. Florence Holmes Woodruff to the final settlement of the $2,440,000 estate of her mother, Mrs. Bell R. Holmes, who resided at 9 Portland place, St. Louis, were overruled today by District Judge J. M. Morris, Supreme Court in a decision sustaining rulings of the St. Louis Probate Court and St. Louis Circuit Court.

The appeal involved the question of whether the executors of the estate, Robert and J. Howard Holmes, brothers of Mrs. Woodruff, had proceeded properly in paying a Federal estate tax of $146,547 and a New York transfer tax of $307 from the fund of the estate instead of front the body of the estate.

The court ruled their action in making the payments from income was proper, under the provisions of the will.

Mrs. Holmes died in 1925. Her will provided several minor bequests to persons outside the immediate family. It provided that one-fourth of the residue go to each of her sons, Robert and J. Howard

Mrs. Woodruff Loses Appeal
Involving Handling of Mrs.
Holmes' Property.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 21.—Exceptions filed by Mrs. Florence Holmes Woodruff to the final settlement of the $2,440,000 estate of her mother, Mrs. Bell R. Holmes, who resided at 9 Portland place, St. Louis, were overruled today by District Judge J. M. Morris, Supreme Court in a decision sustaining rulings of the St. Louis Probate Court and St. Louis Circuit Court.

The appeal involved the question of whether the executors of the estate, Robert and J. Howard Holmes, brothers of Mrs. Woodruff, had proceeded properly in paying a Federal estate tax of $146,547 and a New York transfer tax of $307 from the fund of the estate instead of front the body of the estate.

The court ruled their action in making the payments from income was proper, under the provisions of the will.

Mrs. Holmes died in 1925. Her will provided several minor bequests to persons outside the immediate family. It provided that one-fourth of the residue go to each of her sons, Robert and J. Howard Holmes. The remaining one-half of the residue was to constitute a trust estate, for the two sons and the two daughters of Mrs. Woodruff and their issue. Judge H. March held that some of the trust, however, is to go equally to the two daughters during their lifetime. The four children, as trustees, had power to hold or sell and reinvest the assets of the trust.

The principal holdings of the estate were 1000 shares of stock of the Holmes Investment Co., a family corporation appraised at $2,324,580 at the time of Mrs. Holmes' death. The remainder of the estate consisted of miscellaneous stocks and property.

After the final settlement was made, Mrs. Woodruff appealed to the Supreme Court. Commissioner Charles L. Ferguson, who wrote the opinion, held the will did not provide for separation of income from the body of the estate, but directed that there be paid to each daughter one-half of the net income of the trust, arising from property at any time comprising the trust.

Other orders were abandoned on the appeal.

The Probate Court approved the settlement and it was affirmed by the Circuit Court. Mrs. Woodruff appealed to the Supreme Court. Commissioner Charles L. Ferguson, who wrote the opinion, held the will did not provide for separation of income from the body of the estate, but directed that there be paid to each daughter one-half of the net income of the trust, arising from property at any time comprising the trust.

SNOUT OF MT. RAINIER GLACIER RECEDES DURING THE WINTER

Indicates Decreased Precipitation or Rise in Temperature, Observers Say.

By the Associated Press.

TACOMA, Wash., May 21.—Llewellyn Evans, superintendent of the Municipal Lighting System, said today the snow of Nisqually Glacier on Mount Rainier, which he had been studying, receded last winter despite the general forward movement of the ice.

Evans said the glacier snout had lost 23 feet from Nov. 1, 1929, to the present, indicating either that the precipitation on Mount Rainier had decreased in recent years or that the temperature of that section had risen. The formation has receded more than half a mile since white men found it, but heretofore the shrinkage has been observed only during the summer months.

A river originating under the glacier supplies power for one of the city's light plants.

SHORTER WORKING DAY ADVOCATED AS AID TO PROSPERITY

M. J. McDonough, A. F. L. Officer, Favors No Reduction in the Hourly Wage Scale, However.

MORE BUILDING NEEDED, HE SAYS

Thinks Until Construction Increases There Will Be No General Revival of Business.

Shorter working hours and no reduction in the hourly wage scale is advocated by M. J. McDonough, president of the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, as part of the remedy for unemployment and business depression.

McDonough, a former member of the California State Legislature, told the Associated Press reporter today that "the building industry is the barometer of prosperity, and the barometer is still down."

"The building industry affects the banker, the manufacturer, the real estate operator, the insurance man and others, in addition to the mechanic," McDonough said.

"Building increases there will be no general revival of business."

"More building can be stimulated through governmental and municipal building programs, and by individuals and corporations with money in the bank spending it for building," McDonough replied.

"The price of materials is somewhat cheaper than it was, and although the hourly wage scale of labor has been increased, the contractor who has a job now can pick his mechanics, and therefore gets better labor for his dollar."

For Five-Day Week.

With reference to shorter working periods, McDonough said his department would be "satisfied if all of the 1,000,000 union building workers in the United States were working three days a week."

"I believe in a four-day week, but I never return in the construction industry," McDonough asserted. "There is only one solution to unemployment under present conditions—shorter working hours. Even in times of prosperity I believe the five-day week is advisable."

McDonough estimates that 50 per cent of the union building mechanics are unemployed.

"Some well meaning people believe that labor should reduce wages," McDonough continued. "It is our belief that a reduction in pay tomorrow would not initiate one building project. The only effect, as we see it, would be to reduce the purchasing power of those building winners now employed. That does not help us to get back to prosperity."

McDonough last night addressed the St. Louis Building Trades Council on the necessity of harmony between crafts at this critical period. The Building Trades Department is forming a joint conference board, including both contractors and union representatives, to arbitrate jurisdictional disputes between crafts.

Hugh Bancroft Recommends Pay Raise for Workers.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—Hugh Bancroft, publisher of the Wall Street Journal, today advocated an immediate downward revision of wage scales to restore prosperity and attacked industrialists and Government leaders who seek to maintain existing wage scales in the face of the present depression.

Addressing members of the Philadelphia Bond Club, Bancroft declared: "The true cost of living has fallen 20 per cent in two years. If there were a general and immediate reduction of wage scales and salaries in the ratio of 15 per cent below the stimulus of the resultant reduced retail prices, business would revive rapidly, unemployment would disappear, and the general American standard of living would be higher than in 1929."

"High wages do not make prosperity," he warned. "It is prosperity that makes high wages possible. A liberal wage policy in times of prosperity tends to prolong and increase prosperity. This depression is going to last until the price that the final customer must pay is brought into more reasonable relationship with the price that the producer is receiving. Important readjustment of wages and salaries are inevitable."

MADRID, May 21.—Margaret Bonfield, Minister of Labor, told the House of Commons today that about 240,000 persons had been employed directly and indirectly as a result of unemployment schemes approved by the Labor Government.

Employers at Roubaix and Tourcoing, on the French-Belgian frontier, have asked the Minister of Labor to reopen the wage negotiations inasmuch as Belgian workers not represented in the former parleys which ended in a strike. The Belgians, who normally cross the frontier daily for work, are not affected by French social insurance which is deducted from wages and is one of the principal causes of the walkout.

The woman victim was Miss Mary Brown of Scotland. William Patrick suffered a broken arm when he landed on a ledge. His wife and mother clung to bushes on the edge of the precipice until their cries brought lumbermen to the rescue.

AGNOSTIC IN FORUM ON RELIGION WITH CATHOLIC, PROTESTANT, JEW

Darrow Says There Is No Evidence of Order in World—Beliefs, Once Definite, Today Only "Thin, Beautiful Sentences"—Dr. J. A. Lapp Asserts Doctrine of "Love God, Love Your Neighbor" Reaches All Men.

Highlights of the Discussion

Dr. John A. Lapp, Roman Catholic—"I believe in God. I believe in Christ the Son of God, Who came on earth for the redemption of mankind. He selected the apostles as his successors, bidding them go and teach, and He selected Peter for the primacy among them. The rest is history."

The Rev. Ivan Lee Holt, Methodist—"Protestantism believes that the Eternal has given us a revelation of His will in Jesus Christ. God is revealed in many ways, but most perfectly in Christ. It is easier to explain evil in a rational universe than to explain good in an irrational universe."

Clarence Darrow, Agnostic—"Order is the last thing that this universe knows anything about. Is there any order about 10,000 earthquakes in Dayton, Tenn., where Darrow opposed the late William J. Bryan. It was also reminiscent of Robert G. Ingersoll's "Mistakes of Moses." The book from which the village skeptics of a generation ago took their ammunition for corner store debates."

Rabbi F. M. Isserman—"Religion does not depend on a book. Destroy all the sacred books, blot out all religious teachings, and religion would spring up again in the heart of man. Who can believe that the universe is due to chance, that the flowers are an accident, that the development of the human race is due to an electrical disturbance, or that man is a chance agglomeration of atoms? Judaism believes that God is one, that humanity is one."

By CARLOS F. HURD.

LAURENCE DARROW'S religious forum, in which the noted Chicago lawyer attacks religion and churchmen uphold it, went over big at the Odeon last night. All the 2,000 seats, and two rows of extra seats on the stage, were sold at prices from $1 to $2.50, and many were turned away.

Darrow's business manager, George Whitehead, made the arrangements for the forum, which followed the plan of another such program given by Darrow, the "Peace Session" in 50 cities, in which he spoke to 10,000 people.

Darrow, in a 20-minute speech, ridiculed family Bible stories, and the like, and pointed out that there is no evidence of order in the universe—it is more like chaos, he insisted.

Of the two speakers who preceded him, Dr. John A. Lapp of Marquette University, Milwaukee, presented the viewpoint of a Catholic layman, and the Rev. Dr. Ivan Lee Holt of St. John's Methodist Church gave his estimate of Protestantism.

Opposite Mr. Darrow was more frequent through his speaking time and at his close, than for the Catholic and Protestant speakers. But the final speaker, Rabbi Ferdinand Isserman of Temple Israel, stirred the enthusiasm of a large part of the audience, not only of Judaism, but of other faiths.

"We have suffered much," he said. "We have lost our homes, our cemeteries desecrated, our schools destroyed. Yet we do not blame our friends of other faiths, and there is not any individual who has been more responsible for this than ourselves."

"Such things are likely to be forgotten by those who have money to make in that way, who have axes to grind. But the past is past. The Catholic church asks only the right to fulfill its great mission, the chance to worship our Lord as we please, the chance to render the greatest service to our fellowmen. Waves of tolerance and good will are sweeping our land. The meeting is an expression of God's love for man."

Rabbi Isserman's reply to this was: "I cannot prove that there is a God, but I feel that there must be a God, for only thus can I understand and interpret life. In accepting the existence of God as a hypothesis, I use the same method that modern scientists are using. We have a problem, and we cannot until science solves all the problems, whether there must be a God or not. His existence cannot wait for scientific proof of His existence. We make the adventure of faith. We predicate the existence of a God, and with that hypothesis we find that we can build a beautiful life and give power to our moral idealism."

Dr. Lapp on Protestantism.

Dr. Holt, Methodist, said it was difficult for any Protestant to speak for Protestantism, with its many variations of belief, from fundamentalism to humanism. "It is impossible even to get the Methodists together," he said, "and we have much difficulty of convincing all the Protestants here present to agree with me."

"Protestantism is neither protest nor negation," he continued. "It is reason, grown courageous enough to trust and serve. It may resist, but it cannot treat with contempt or ridicule, views which it does not endorse."

"Our religion affirms as its historical foundation that the Eternal has given us the revelation of His will in Jesus Christ, and that the service of the Eternal, after the manner of Jesus Christ, is a direct and immediate service."

"Protestantism is a religion of transfigured and glorified individuality. It is high, exacting faith, which offers a chance of triumphal life."

"God is in the midst of the universe. I could tighten my belt and whistles, walking through a world from which God has been banished. But to me the universe seems creative, not a dead mass. New forms of life are constantly appearing. There is disaster and evil, but it is easier to explain evil in a rational universe than to explain good in an irrational universe."

Minds Needed for Machines.

"If the universe is a machine, no machine exists without a mind. If there are laws, intelligence was required to shape them. Thus we have order, development, growth, rescue."

"If one surrenders faith in the

SHARP DEBATE ON LIBERIAN ISSUE Delegate From That Country Says There Is No Slavery There, but It Exists Elsewhere.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, May 21.—The League of Nations Council today formally endorsed a proposal by the Pan-European Commission for establishment of an international mortgage credit company.

There was acrimonious debate regarding the League's position in Liberia. The Venezuelan delegate insisted that the Liberian policy must never be political lest the African republic's independence be compromised. Efforts to suppress slavery there were to be weakened, he said, if the League adopted "imperial functions."

Antoine Sotile, the Liberian representative, replied that assistance given by economic experts under the auspices of the League had been received in Liberia with gratitudo.

"Slavery no longer exists in Liberia," he said. "But I know for a fact that it exists elsewhere."

Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Secretary, announced that his Government had approved his selection as chairman of next year's general disarmament conference, and he deposited ratification by Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand of the general act for peaceful settlement of international disputes.

Aristide Briand deposited the French ratification of the same act and also of the protocol covering adherence by the United States to the World Court.

ROBERT F. SCRIPPS, the young publisher, is wearing one of those dashing beards affected by worldly stage Counts. Recently at the Dutch Treat, where he came upon Irvin Club, who looked at him quizzically and then with a light of recognition exclaimed: "I thought at first it was Schumann. He's upside down."

THE DUTCH TREAT annual show, incidentally, is a high spot in the lives of New York's notables of art and letters. Weekly it holds a luncheon but one night a year it does cap and bells and stays up all night. It provides a chance for various young folk for those private attendants and presents a show that at least could be called regal. Upon such occasions one sees such immortals as Charles Deas Gibson, J. M. Flagg, Ring Lardner, Rex Beach and the like.

BREAK AWAY FOR THREE A DAY— at TEN-TWO & FOUR O'CLOCK

Daily Article by Calvin Coolidge

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 20

ONE of our great business associations estimates the national wealth according to the latest returns of 1929 at three hundred and sixty billion dollars. Of this great sum it is well known that a generous proportion depends on order and security. Perhaps those are the chief assets of the nation.

It is for that reason that it is forever necessary to guard the honor and integrity of the government from the top to the bottom. Much of our property is intangible, consisting of credits and contracts. These would become valueless without the support of law and order and leave the country prostrate under the only empty and useless shell of commerce and industry. Russia passed through that experience.

When the law fails of execution, when the conduct of the government is hampered by dishonesty and corruption, when there is want of value, the value of property is reduced. The sense of the public is widened, ignorance becomes more dense, and the poverty of the people is increased. We are a rich nation but our citizens cannot afford to be complacent about violations of the law or laxity in their government. Our whole credit structure rests on the general power to enforce the law.

"If I have to go to hell for not believing that story, I will have to go, though probably I won't enjoy it. If I believed in such God, I would call him a devil—cursing the whole human race because two persons ate an apple. Basis of Doctrine."

"Now some of you Christians will say that I am not entitled to tell that story, that Christians don't believe it any more. I have yet to hear any representative gathering of Baptists, or Methodists, or Catholics, or Holy Rollers, say that they don't believe it. The fact is, the Christian church is founded on it. Dr. Lapp says Christ came to redeem men. Redeem them from what? Why from original sin of Adam and Eve. That is the teaching of every Christian church except perhaps the Unitarian and Universalist churches. And I don't count them as Christian. The whole doctrine is tied up with Adam and Eve, and can't be separated from them."

Doesn't Believe Virgin Birth.

"And I don't believe that Jesus Christ came without a human father. The most virtuous and truthful woman living today could not persuade anybody that such a thing had happened to her. The laws of nature have provided a means for the birth of every human being."

"And the wise men from the East, guided by a star that stood over a certain building, the nearest star is long light-years away from earth, and we cannot think of it as coming near enough to point out this building, or the city or St. Louis, or the earth itself. Believe me, a thing if you want to—but tell a child today, and he will say, 'Oh, yeah!'

"I have heard about the order of the universe. I don't know anything about the order of the universe. What is the pattern of the order of the universe? Why, the pattern is man's observation of the universe, so that when you say the universe has order, you mean that the universe is a rational entity, and that's all it does mean. If the earth went around the sun in a rectangle, we would say that was the order of the universe, and if its path was triangular, it would be argued that the triangle represented order, and any other way would have been disorder."

What About Other Planets.

"How did the solar system originate? I can't prove it, but the best theory we have is that a star struck another star, and the fragments from the collision formed the solar system. That doesn't sound like order, it sounds like chaos. When astronomers predict an eclipse, they don't know, they merely tell what will happen if some change doesn't occur. The chance is that they are right, but with the universe full of dead and clashing worlds, and with 10,000 earthquakes a year, it would seem that order is the last thing the universe is about."

"When the earthquake hit Lisbon it killed mostly people in the churches. If that had happened to infidels, it would be said that God directed it. I don't think there was any thought about it—it just happened. The mountains are shifting, everything is changing, there is no such thing as order. I carried this to the earth, what was done for the other planets? The answer is that the Bible writers believed in a flat earth, with the stars like so many little bulbs in the ceiling."

"Is this earth the sole care of a Supreme Being? We know better."

Rabbi Isserman Agrees on Fear.

Rabbi Isserman, 33 years old and of bohemian appearance, followed the grizzled Darrow, who is 74. In contrast to Darrow's mild tone of argumentation, and to the genial persuasive style of the first two speakers, the Rabbi spoke in the oratorical manner. With the hour of 11 approaching, the audience remained with very few exceptions to the end of his brilliant address.

"I agree with Mr. Darrow," he said, "that fear is the greatest of evils. But what institution has more fear than the Christian religion? What has given the church and martyrs their courage, but faith? What has given millions the courage to face the unknown, but the fact of their faith?

"What may seem superstition to an outsider, is seen by the insider, participating in worship, as a moving, elevating, inspiring experience."

"When in Rome I visited the sacred staircase. I was informed that it is that whoever climbs that staircase on his knees receives a remission of seven years in purgatory. I said to myself that this is a lot of superstition, but that is an old, battered, broken-down Italian peasant woman, on whose face I saw the tragedy of life, on whose hands were evident the signs of unrelenting and ceaseless toil. With great difficulty did she climb on her knees up this staircase, counting her beads all the time, and when she reached the top of that staircase, a new light in her eyes, a new vigor seemed to fill her. She had seven years' remission, not in a hazy purgatory, but in an actual here."

Within Our Lights.

"That staircase ceased to be for me a bit of superstition, because I saw that for that woman who came to it with faith it was a ladder which led to Heaven."

"The world has frequently called Judaism a religion of law and has spoken of the burden of Jewish ceremonial. The Jew instead spoke of the joy of the law and said that to him it was a tree of life to them that lay hold of it; the supporters thereof are happy; its ways are ways of pleasantness and all its paths are peace. Thus it is that only a Catholic can explain Catholicism, only a Protestant Protestantism and only a Jew Judaism."

"We who believe in religion must cease to slight those who cannot believe in religion. We must not assume for one moment that all the virtues of quality and character are limited to individuals who profess to accept any of the historic creeds. We must not imagine that atheists and agnostics are villains or satans, nor assume that there can be no virtue in an atheist like Darwin or among the atheist of Russia."

"It is perhaps true that the logic of agnosticism, which begins with an ignoring of God, invariably ends in a despising of man; that the atheist who looks out upon the world and sees it cold, hostile and indifferent to man and sees man as a mere mechanical accident, cannot hold up for man as high and noble a destiny as can religion;

and therefore cannot credit the moral virtues as can a religious teacher."

"Nevertheless, men are not always logical. The agnostic or the atheist will frequently not follow his philosophy to its logical conclusion and will be found cherishing the highest and finest human values, even though in his philosophy he has denied their significance. And at the same time there may be those who profess religion and whose logic may lead them to an exalted conception of man, who will yet be found in the camps of the Bourbons, who exploit their fellowmen, who limit their opportunities and display any but the moral virtues which the logic of religion demands."

Accident or Divine Order?

The Gravois Transportation Committee, representing a number of civic and commercial organizations, made a formal objection in its answer. The only hearing yesterday, the 18th, was Stanley Clarke, president of the Public Service Co., who discussed details of the plan.

Public Service Commission has authority to order substitution of bus service.

The Gravois Transportation Committee, in connection with the request at City Hall Chairman Stahl of the State Commerce Commission, the city denied the commission's authority to order substitution of bus service, as asked by the commission, on the ground that the commission has jurisdiction over bus service. The city also challenged the commission's right to abut installation of certain new roads that would be required for buses now running in Gravois.

Other objections raised in the answer were: Paving of the road of widened Gravois, which would be delayed at least a year by the removal, because new ordinance would be necessary; the commission would abrogate the company's franchise, by forcing transportation of abutting property owners of cost of paving the space occupied by the tracks, which the

EDWARD T. BEDFORD, OIL PIONEER, DIES AT 82

Contemporary of Rockefellers a Capitalist With Wide Interests—Horses One of Hobbies.

By the Associated Press.
WESTPORT, Conn., May 21.—Edward T. Bedford, one of the last survivors of the pioneers who developed the American oil industry, died today at Greens Farms, his summer home. The capitalist had been in ill health for about two years. He was 82 years old.

A contemporary of the Rockefellers, Charles Pratt, Harry H. Rogers, and others of the oil industry, Bedford was associated with the Standard Oil Co. for many years. He was a director and member of the Executive Committee of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey from 1903 until 1911.

He was president of the Corn Products Refining Co. from its organization until the consolidation of several concerns in 1906, until his death. He was largely responsible for its development as the largest company of its kind in the United States and, although ill health forced him to curtail his activities the last two years, he played an active part in the shaping of its policies.

He was president and director of the Colonial Oil Co. of New Jersey and a director of Bush Terminal Co., Bush Terminal Buildings Co., Long Island Safe Deposit Co., Pattison & Sons Inc., United States Merchants and Shippers In-Guaranty and Trust Co.

His taste in hobbies—flowers and horses—won wide recognition. His gardens and conservatories on his vast estate, where he spent the summer months, attracted visitors from throughout the country. In the heyday of trotting now, Bedford was recognized as one of the leading riders driven in the country, and in 1902 established a world's record. He was the breeder of the celebrated mare Hamburg Belle. She established a world's record.

Bedford was born in Brooklyn, Feb. 19, 1849. He is survived by his widow, Mary A. Burges Bedford, two sons, Charles E., vice-president, Vacuum Oil Co., and Frederick T., president, Penick & Ford, Ltd., both of New York, and two daughters, Mrs. Preston Davie, Tuxedo Park, and Mrs. Harold Lloyd, Greens Farms. A brother, Frederick H. Bedford, until recently a vice president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, also lives at Greens Farms.

FLYER IN AVIATION STOCK RESULTS IN
$1,000,000 CRASH

Receiver Named for Allied Industries Holding Company Formed Before Market Collapsed.

A million dollar "flyer" in aviation stocks, which came to earth with other securities in the market crash, was discussed in Circuit Judge Rosskopf's court today when a receiver was appointed for the Allied Aviation Industries, a Delaware corporation with headquarters in St. Louis.

The petition, filed by a stockholder, Miss Kathleen Walsh, teacher at Scruggs Public School, stated that 110,000 shares are outstanding.

Ployd Augustine, broker and former president of the concern, told the court that this stock sold at $10.50 a share, making the public investment more than $1,000,000.
Augustine testified the same stock is now worth 15 cents a share.
The company was organized in March, 1929, as a holding company for aviation enterprises.

"The aviation business was flourishing, and we believed it was one of the big things of our age, with every chance to succeed," Augustenus told the court. "But being a new venture, just getting a start, the market crash affected it among the first."

Augustine listed assets of the company as a flying field at Moline, Ill., value not estimated; $7122 cash, a note for $6832 described as "good," and stock in five aviation enterprises for which $275,000 was paid, and which is now worth "several thousand dollars."

Augustine admitted that most of the original officers and directors of the company, which had offices in the Planters' Building, have resigned. Judge Rosskopf appointed George McNulty, an attorney, as receiver.

STRENGTH OF RAIL SHARES DOMINATES STOCK LIST

Market Closes With a Pronounced Gain for First Time in nearly a Fortnight — Occasional Selling Flurries During Day.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK. May 21.—The railroad issues led the stock market up today, and the list closed with a pronounced gain for the first time in nearly a fortnight.

The railroad shares, which began to stiffen two days ago, after a protracted decline into the lowest levels experienced in years, rose in anticipation of the market that the major railroad presidents had determined to request an upward revision of freight rates. Selling flurries swept through the market from time to time but strong buying appeared in the last hour. Recent nervousness over the bi-monthly settlement of railroads' fuel bills was allayed by the finding that fuel bills were still unpaid.

Rails up 2 to 5 points included Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Erie, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Rock Island, Atlantic Coast Line, Union Pacific and Santa Fe. Leading industrials and utilities also closed higher.

Standard American Telephone, American Can, U. S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, Fox Film, International Telephone, Public Service of N. J., National Biscuit and Kroger. Declines of 4 points in Worthington and Vandiville were cut to less than half, and Bethlehem Steel regained but a fraction of a point drop.

Allied Chemical closed nearly 2 lower.

Rail Executives Meet.

As long ago as May 8, when the stock market had its last substantial rally, the Association of Railway Executives meeting in Chicago, decided to order traffic heads to study the place of freight rates in the cost of the carriers' freight power. But since that time, the rail issues have had further wide declines. Today's meeting of executives included representatives of only the roads east of the Mississippi River, and there appeared to be more general agreement than there was at the previous meeting.

In foreign exchanges, American currencies declined, but sterling was about steady at $4.864 to cables and continental currencies showed little change.

The copper issues generally worked lower, although they have been so thoroughly deflated that losses were small. Red metal was available at 8 cents a pound, a record low, although large purchases still held to the price of 9 cents, and some export business was done on the basis of that domestic price.

The Department of Labor's commodity price index as announced as of the date April 15, showed a further decline of 1% per cent from a month earlier, and the latest figures among 559 commodities, the most inclusive one published.

It shows that the current dollar will buy as much as would $1.36 in 1926.

Wall Street Comment.

Wall Street is awaiting with some interest the semiannual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute. The market is confident that steel executives will have constructive comment to make on the current outlook despite the substantial seasonal contraction in steel output since late March.

Call money again renewed at 1½ per cent but was abundantly offered in the outside market at one. The effects of cheap money were less apparent in the market, and rather than during the past few days, but this was not surprising, in view of the wide advances in the high-grade issues already scored.

Coletox Co. Report.

CHICAGO. May 21.—The Coletox Co. today reported for the six months ended April 30 net loss of $165,814, compared with net profit of $227,955 for the corresponding period last year.

"Lid Lifting" Tomorrow—
"Club" to Initiate Big Class

National Celebrities Here for Ceremonial, Including "Doc Himself," D. I. Spenser, and "Cap" Puller—Law Promises "No Interference"

Much of the mystery of the proposed "social" club was cleared up today. This newspaper received, through its business office, an official announcement of the organizers, calling for volunteers as prospective members. The announcement appears elsewhere in this issue and is directed to "All ye who are weary, heavy laden and T-H-I-R-S-T-Y." It is signed by "Doc Himself" (Grand Drink), D. I. Spenser (Chief Squirt), and "Cap" Puller (Master of the Bar.)

Contrary to popular belief, these gentlemen have proved to be high-class and law-abiding citizens. In no sense do they give the impression of bootleggers or denizens of the underworld. They contend that under the plan upon which they clubs are operated there is no violation of the law; that in many cities the membership includes law enforcement officers themselves, prominent ministers and members of protection organizations.

TWO

Copies of the purposes and by-laws as well as the privileges and benefits were submitted to the management of this newspaper and after careful investigation nothing was found in the plan which can possibly be construed as a violation of the law. In fact, it may be that if drinking in this community can be regulated under the plan of this club, the community as a whole will be more temperate and better off.

Those interested are directed to display an announcement giving more details appearing immediately below.—Adv.

FOUR

ATTENTION!

All Ye Who Are Weary, Heavy Laden and

THIRSTY

It is not a crime to drink. For those who know how to use it, the social glass is both a boon and a virtue. Our movement violates no law, either legal, moral or physical. We stand for law enforcement; abhor intoxication, and condemn vice and crime. No man, woman or child need compromise his conscience or stultify his moral character by becoming a member. Our plan has the hearty endorsement of ministers, temperance workers and law enforcement officers.

Watch Tomorrow's Paper

We will publish tomorrow in this paper a large advertisement, giving full details of the plan and directions for becoming a member. Watch for a large ad containing a picture of "Doc Himself" as shown in recent stories. Learn the mysteries and secrets, including purposes and by-laws, privileges and benefits, the official high signs, the official badge and membership card. You may now think you will be disappointed—but you won't.

Signed:

AMERICAN RED CROSS
DAY IN ST. LOUIS

Acting Mayor Neun Makes Proclamation in Connection With Semi-Centennial.

St. Louis joined the rest of the United States today in celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the American Red Cross.

The day was proclaimed "American Red Cross Day" by Acting Mayor Neun. "In recognition of the great work to relieve human suffering throughout the world," Neun describes the Red Cross in his proclamation as "a vital force in the welfare of our people, and in the development of their moral and spiritual growth."

The official celebration will be held tonight with a dinner of the St. Louis chapter and guests at Hotel Coronado. The radio address of President Hoover will be broadcast at the dinner, and will be followed by an address by Mrs. Frank V. Hammar, chairman of the local chapter.

A pageant masque, "The Spirit of Service," by Miriam C. Scheney, will be presented. The principal characters will be represented by Mrs. D. K. Ross, Mrs. Herbert Cost and Charles Dillon. Soldiers from the Sixth Infantry, Jefferson Barracks, employees of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and members of the Red Cross nursing reserve, Meramec River patrol and volunteer and junior units will participate.

President Hoover will speak at a dinner at Washington attended by 800 guests, including diplomatic representatives of the 52 nations holding membership in the Red Cross. It is planned to continue the observance for a year, thus including the fiftieth anniversaries of the organization meeting of May 21, 1881; the formation of the first local chapter at Danville, N. Y., Aug. 22, 1881, and the Treaty of Geneva, International Red Cross, March 1, 1882.

CHAPTER TEN.

THREE is healing in trees. And Julie needed all the comfort they could give her. She was busy with the many details attendant on her position, and Garrod came often to talk over plans with her, thinking it would help her, knowing his chief would have liked it, and really interested in her judgment. She saw Dean frequently—the life insurance her father had carried enabled things to go on until everything was settled.

Winter was coming, and before spring came to the woods she would go to New York. But she wanted, with a longing like hunger and thirst, to be shut in, imprisoned in white stillness and peace, surrounded by snow-masked trees and meadows like seas of frozen foam and ice-locked water. She wanted the arching pale blue sky and to watch her breath smoke on the still air. She wanted the lonely sound of wind and of thudding snow—and to range the hills and vales in snow shoes. She wanted long black nights, and nights when the moonlight carved blue shadows in the snow. It seemed to her that there would be peace in the woods in winter, and from their cold, marvelous patience she might draw strength to go on without her father.

Hildreth wrote her often, discussing the plans for Julie's new life. But such plans seemed far away, strange, and unreal to the girl who faced her sorrows up in the North Woods.

During that hard winter she lived as much as possible out of doors. Evenings, there were long walks and Cecile. Once, because he is accustomed intimate silence, Julie asked wistfully,

"Would you consider coming with me, Cecile?"

The spare, quiet woman shook her head. "No, my child. You know I would go with you whenever you went." I followed you, mother—but I do think that it would be good for you. In this life you must cut yourself off from the trees and the stillness and the old Cecile. You must start out alone. You will come back—we shall not have changed. You will alter, but you will find us the same. Better so."

Sometimes they talked. John Montgomery of the mother, Julie had never known. Cecile told her—she had when Julie told her—of the time when Canada was young and the settlers flocked to that great, cold, sleeping land. And so the days passed.

EARLY in February Dean said tentatively, on an occasion when Julie had made the trip to his office:

"Things are practically settled. Have you made your plans, Julie?" She nodded. "Yes, I am going—soon."

Returning home, she began to pack, with Cecile to help her. Her rough clothes—her breeches and boots, her snowshoes and her skis. They must go with her—and her gun and rods. There were books she wanted—just a few—books and Cecile and Montgomery had read together—histories, biographies, travel books.

The little linen frocks she loved, many of them faded from much washing, went into the big, shabby trunks. And the Paris dresses which she had hardly worn. She would wear them now, she thought, because he had wished it. Remembering how she had said to her father, "I'd rather wear them for you," the great dark eyes set in a face which had thinned down to only contoured bone just veiled with the firm flesh, filled with tears.

"You take too much of home with you," Cecile warned, watching.

Cecile shrugged, spread out her lean hands. "Better that you go with what is on your back, no more. And start over again."

But Julie could not. She must have familiar things about her. Just the look of the high boots and the wide jacket and the tall jackmaw would bring a sense and sight and odor of her own place to her. She was homesick before she started.

Dean arranged all the details of travel for her, and in the end went with her. He felt that he could not see her start off alone. She was not accustomed to cities and the thing which decided him was her request not to be met at the station.

"I'd rather they didn't meet me," she said, unable to explain how she dreaded the first encounter in the indifferent surroundings of a railway depot.

BEFORE Dean came to get her on their day of departure, Julie had said good-by to the woman who had been friend and foster-mother all her life long. There were no tears. It went too easily for that. Just for a space of time Julie held back, holding her loyal arms, and in the silent sleep there was love and strength and endurance and a sense that Cecile had indeed spoken truly—that whatever changes came they would not come to Cecile, nor to the country nor the farmhouse nor the eternal trees and hills.

And as she left—said Cecile:

"Till you return!" said Cecile.

The trip was hideous to Julie, comfortable as it was, though. They arrived in New York very early. "Breakfast here," Hildreth had wired, and on that morning was concerned with getting Jack out of bed in time.

But because of Julie's insistence that no one should meet her, she and Dean got a taxi on their arrival and drove to the apartment. New York was cold and clear, and

Arthur Hammerstein, Broke at 58, Says He Will Come Back in a Year.

By GERALD HOLLAND

NEW YORK, May 20. ARTHUR HAMMERSTEIN, famous Broadway producer, who made $3,000,000 out of "Rose Marie," walked into court recently, listed his liabilities at $1,649,136, and blandly announced, "I've got $5."

It was a rather ironic coincidence that a Broadway hit of the moment, "America's Sweetheart," still flourishing, had for its featured musical number a song called "I've Got Five Dollars."

There was a second coincidence: Arthur's father, Oscar, the late operatic impresario, went broke at exactly his age, 58. But Oscar came back to win a new fortune and there lies Arthur's opportunity to create a third coincidence.

As a matter of fact, Arthur's actual assets amounted to $5.77. He tossed to hungry creditors his magnificent theater and his $400,000 Long Island mansion, which was the show place of the exclusive section in which it stood. Then Mr. Hammerstein leaned back to explain.

"I'm coming back. Next season.

The way things stand now, a good show isn't enough. You have to have a smash hit or you play to plenty of empty seats. I'm glad the theater is off my hands. You can't own a theater and put shows in it. It would be too much dead weight for me to carry."

"I'm a showman. I know what people want and how to get them in. They want to go out crying. That's the rule. Give them all the show and laugh you can, but send them away with tears in their eyes. They want romance, not realism. Extravaganzas aren't necessary. They like a good story. Stars don't count. The biggest salary in "Rose Marie" was $200 a week. I paid that to Dennis King."

"Sometimes they talked. John Montgomery of the mother, Julie had never known. Cecile told her—she had when Julie told her—of the time when Canada was young and the settlers flocked to that great, cold, sleeping land. And so the days passed.

In his will he arranges for Julie to go to New York as a protege of the Desmonds, hoping she will acquire some of the knowledge and experience of worldly affairs he admired in Jean Amory.

"That left me about $100,000 for incidents after I had spent $400,000 on my home."

"WHAT became of the $3,000,000 I made from 'Rose Marie'?" Dean said. "I sunk $1,300,000 in the theater building. About $18,000 of that went for a bronze statue of my father for the lobby. I put his opera hat in the corner-stone—Jimmy Walker did, rather."

"Song of the Flame" cost me a quarter million. I lost $150,000 on 'Wild Rose,' and $200,000 on 'Golden Dawn.' 'Sweet Adeline' took me down for $100,000. This season I dropped $200,000 on 'Luna' and 'Ballyhoo.'

"That left me about $100,000 for incidents after I had spent $400,000 on my home."

"BALLYHOO," Hammerstein's last production, which opened this season, starred the comedian, W. C. Fields, and was favorably, even enthusiastically reviewed. But as the producer pointed out, a merely "good" show wasn't enough. With two weeks, Hammerstein decided to close it. The members of the cast asked if they might take it over on a co-operative basis. Hammerstein readily agreed and even gave the ambitious players free use of the theater. But their efforts were likewise doomed to fail-ture and soon the show closed down permanently.

Hammerstein, who has produced at least one musical comedy in New York every year since 1912, took his failure lightly.

"Now I'll have time to tinker around in my machine shop," he said. "You can't be a producer and a mechanical man too. I'm an inventor. I've got a trick perfume bottle and an egg-boiling machine to my credit. My father was an inventor, too. He turned out a cigar-making machine and made $6,000 off of it."

The elder Hammerstein is an almost legendary figure in New York theatrical history. He was a shrewd and daring showman. In 1911, after some unfortunate investments, Arthur shipped his father to Paris. The son then sold the London Opera House to the Metropolitan and took the next train to France with the proceeds.

He didn't speak to me for ten minutes. I went back and sold the London Opera for him at $350,000. It had cost him $2,000,000."

There is a third big name in the Hammerstein family. Oscar II, nephew of Arthur, won fame early as a librettist of stage and screen productions. He helped to make

"Rose Marie" the sensational success that it was.
